Mackay to Lancaster to Cousins

District Governor

found on the back sheet of the Business section. Harvey loves Rotary. He told me that our District 6110 Newsletter could reproduce any of his weekly material.

During my DG Club visits, I usually slip in some words about "Attitude" - something Harvey sites regularly as critical to business success. District 6110 was blessed with the late, number-one-attitude-guy ever - Liggett Lancaster, PDG, 1989-90, from Tulsa. "Attitude is Everything" was his motto and life-long theme. Liggett used to tell a story about another famous fellow from yesteryear, Norman Cousins, author and magazine editor. Norman developed a physical problem in mid-life. His doctors labeled this disease as "crippling and life threatening." Not one to be beaten by his doctor's diagnosis, Cousins decided that he would research this illness himself. In the middle of his exhaustive study, he discovered a major insight into the healing process.

One of the business world's most popular keynote speakers is Harvey Mackay. The Tulsa World publishes his column each Sunday, usually

He proved to himself and his friends that laughter and a positive attitude can be a contributing factor to healing. Every time you laugh or feel good, your body welcomes this healthy change. Cousins, for instance, found great relief in watching every Marx Brother's movie he could find - anything to keep him in a positive frame of mind. And it worked! The malady vanished miraculously. Later, Cousins lectured at the UCLA School of Medicine, working with future doctors. Liggett loved to emphasize Cousins' words: "The control center of your life is your attitude. Negative attitudes lead to illness, low self esteem and depression. Positive attitudes lead to hope, love, caring, fun - all the qualities which flow directly from the mind to the adrenaline system."

Back to Harvey Mackay, who attitudinally says, "there are two kinds of people in the world: Those who come into a room and say 'Here I am!' and those who come in and say 'Ah, there you are!'"

So make your choice. Which type of Rotarian are you? How's your attitude? Which approach makes the biggest smiles?!!

Paul Harris Says...

"Friendship was the foundation rock on which Rotary was built and tolerance is the element which holds it together. There is enough atomic energy in every Rotary club to blow it into a thousand bits were it not for the spirit of tolerance."

Paul Harris,

"Honoring Our Past: The Words and Wisdom of Paul Harris"

Heart of Education is Education of Heart By Harvey Mackay

Now that the kids are back in school, this is a great time to talk about mentors. Most studies will tell you that successful and happy people give credit for their success in the business world to the role models they encountered as youth.

Where do you find these people? At home? Sure, if we're lucky.

Teachers have a tremendous impact on students' lives. These role models help students set the direction of their futures. They've invested a lifetime in understanding what makes students tick.

Two men — my academic adviser and my golf coach — played major roles in helping me become a successful businessman.

Professor Harold Deutsch was my academic adviser at the University of Minnesota. I was enrolled in his class on the history of World War II. Deutsch had been one of the interpreters at the Nuremberg Trials. He did not just teach history; he was PART of history.

Here's a flashback. It's spring quarter of my sophomore year. Professor Deutsch has just given me my grade, a D. I go in to see him. I plead my case: Being on the golf team, a raging case of "golfitis" has seized my being. It prevented me from giving my class work my best effort. He could understand that, couldn't he?

"Harvey," he said, "keep this up and you will be able to devote your full time — and it looks like you already have — to pushing that little white ball across a big green lawn. Your excuse is pathetic. I'm not changing the grade. You're just lucky I'm not reducing it. However, I am going to challenge you not to just to raise your grade, but to get an "A" in this course when it continues in the fall."

I didn't like that "pathetic" business. Where did he get off talking to me that way, a soon-to-be star of the golf links! He knocked me down a peg. But I needed the knocking. In the fall quarter, I got an "A" in Professor Deutsch's class. He should have been graded, too . . . an "A" in psychology.

My other mentor was Les Bolstad, the University of Minnesota golf coach. Like all great coaches and teachers, Bolstad did not teach golf. He taught life. If you learned a little golf on the side, well, so much the better. Like going fishing. If you catch a fish, it's a bonus. You're there to savor the experience. Bolstad was a second father to me.

Both men gave me tools that I've honed in the business world - to stay focused; to set realistic goals; the art of persuasion, leadership and visualization.

New York Times columnist Tom Friedman, in his 2003 commencement speech at Yale University, told a story about the value of teachers as role models.

One night at dinner, a CEO decided to explain the problem with education. He said: "What's a kid going to learn from someone who decided his best option in life was to become a teacher? You know, it's true what they say about teachers: Those who can do, do. And those who can't do, teach." To corroborate his statement he said to another guest, "Hey, Susan, you're a teacher. Be honest, what do you make?"

Susan, who had a reputation for honest and frankness, replied, "You want to know what I make? I make kids work harder than they ever thought they could, and I can make kids sit through 40 minutes of study hall in absolute silence. I can make a C-plus feel like the Congressional Medal of Honor and an A feel like a slap in the face if the student didn't do his or her very best. I can make parents tremble when I call their home or feel almost like they won the lottery when I tell them how well their child is progressing."

Gaining speed, she went on: "You want to know what I make? I make kids wonder, I make them question. I make them criticize. I make them apologize and mean it. I make them write. I make them read, read and read. I make them understand that if you have the brains, then follow your heart. And if someone ever tries to judge you by what you make in money, you pay them no attention."

Susan then paused. "You want to know what I make? I make a difference."

I couldn't agree more.

Mackay's Moral: Teachers strive not to teach youth to make a living, but to make a life. (Rotarians can make great mentors, too!) 🌟

Pam Everett Awarded

What one woman can do!

There's an old saying that says behind any great man stands an ever greater woman. Well if District 6110 and Springdale Rotary Club were men their outstanding woman would be Pam Everett. Pam joined the Springdale club in 2001 and has embodied the attitude of service above self. In her short two years with the club, she sat on numerous committees, headed the newsletter committee, volunteered for everything from Rotary Little League to ushering at the Springdale Rotary and has taken on the role of District Secretary.

Pam Everett

"As a brand new Rotarian she was willing to take on the responsibilities of the District Secretary, probably the most demanding job the District has. She immediately jumped in, learned what she needed to know as she went along, and completely changed the way District 6110 does business. Pam created a computer data base to initiate immediate communications between clubs and individual Rotarians, took over all communications for me as the District Governor, organized Committees to be more efficient, revised our registration process for meetings, and did all of this with such a cheerful and professional attitude that the District started smiling for the first time in quite a while. While she was doing all this for the District, she was leading the weekly songs and producing a newsletter for her own Rotary Club, and working with several other District Committees to help them achieve their goals.

Pam, working Conference registration with Matt Davis

Pam, Matt Davis and Mary Ellen Sheard

Pam is the District 6110 Rotarian of the year by a wide margin, and I will always be grateful to her for any success I had as the District Governor for 2002/3," said Ed Clifford.

On top of all her hard work and dedication she gives to Rotary, Pam is in charge of heading the office of Gerald Harp, Inc. Pam began working as Don and Gerald Harp's assistant in 1989 managing their daily affairs and taking care of business at the company.

"I think that everybody in the District and in the community who has been associated with Pam has seen the excellent job that she has been doing for the district, a lot of the time sacrifice of her own personal time. I think we have all seen that a qualified person in this position can put our District to a higher level on communications. Pam is a double checker and oversees that things are sent out right or not sent.

She has been a great asset to the District this last year," added Gerald Harp.

Pam was born and raised in Searcy, Arkansas and has been married to Chuck Everett for 21 years. She is the mother of two wonderful daughters, Amber and Megan, who attend the University of Central Arkansas and are both pursuing degrees in speech pathology. Pam is a member of the Christian Life Cathedral in Fayetteville, Arkansas and her hobbies include singing in choir, traveling, spending time with family, and working out. Pam's focus on community service has also extended into organizing the 'Charity Golf Tournament' for Harp's Food and working on 'Day of Caring' at the United Way. She has participated in the Meals on Wheels program, and served the needy at the Richardson Center.

"As a new member of the club, you always notice Pam and her attitude towards others; she greets you with a smiling face and makes you feel connected. Pam sets the example of what it takes to make a club as successful as ours," said Larry Lusk. 🌻

Dear Rotary Families in District 6110,

I want to thank you for your overwhelming generosity. The books you have donated to the library this past week are diverse, wonderful and obviously carefully selected by you. I hope you enjoyed shopping for these lovely books.

We are busy processing your donations, putting clear plastic covers on the hardbacks, reinforcing the paperbacks, and generally making them shelf-ready.

I have a Wednesday morning pre-school program. We sing, play games and I read a story at the end of the 45-minute period. Well, I couldn't resist reading one of our new books which was about animals who wanted to look like other animals but were repeatedly told that they were liked "exactly as they were," one of the children wanted to take the book home with her. Needless to say, I quickly made a temporary card for the book so she could "read" it to her big sister.

Thank you for adopting reading and literacy as two of your themes this year. We in the public library community want our young patrons grow up to be lifelong readers. Knowledge is power and it is vital that our children and teens know how to access the information they need to help them make the right choices in life. Public libraries play a very important role as an information clearinghouse for them.

I hope that the 2003 Rotary International District 6110 Conference held here in Eureka Springs was a success and that you enjoyed our small town.

With Gratitude,

District Conference is a huge Success

Joao Arruda and your editor, on our way to district conference, overlooked a road sign for highway 412 in Springdale, Arkansas. The sign pointed right, we drove straight ... deep in conversation.

The sky was overcast with a continuous drizzle this early Saturday morning. A small rustic grocery store with 50's style asbestos siding was off to the left. We stopped to ask directions. Inside the store, was like stepping back in time. The aroma of roast pork filled the room. There was a peculiar spicy smell.

After waiting a bit, a noticeably Hispanic gentleman walked out to see how he could help. He was in his fifties, and had a dark weathered face.

"Where is highway 412?" I asked.

We know people in Arkansas "talk funny"... it was obvious translation would be necessary. Joao made the venture into the store. He is well versed in this increasingly popular Arkansas dialect.

While sitting in the car, waiting for Joao, it became clear that the brightly colored advertising on the windows of the store was not in English. Joao returned with directions. Where we on a GSE mission?

The lush green countryside and the rolling mountains of the Ozarks, make driving the winding road into Eureka Springs unmatched in the United States.

The village of Eureka is rich with history. When the golden age of rail travel in the 1800's was in its prime, Eureka Springs was a major destination. From that era we have the Bath Houses, the haunted Crescent Motel, the Basin Motel, and much more.

Walking in to the convention center at the Inn of the Ozarks, we saw the welcoming smile of Conference Chairman Matt Davis. The sun began to break through the clouds, and brighten up the room. Joao and I began to greet many Rotary

Rotary President asks members to look for ways to improve health

All District 6110 Rotarians can be proud that they are fulfilling RI President Jonathan Majiyagbe's call to improve the health of the world. One example is unfolding right now: Hospital beds, equipment to furnish an AIDS treatment clinic, plus supplies to make that clinic function are being gathered at Medical Supply Network, Inc., for possible shipment to Zambia.

The "network" to gather and ship these supplies and equipment is only possible because every Rotarian in our district makes an annual contribution of $7 to fund operation of MSNI.

PDG Don Wasson serves on President Majiyagbe's Health

Concerns Task Force. He corresponded with RI Director Sam Okudzeto searching for a "project" that "fits" the Health Concerns guidelines. Director Okudzeto contacted District Governor William Nyirenda from District 9210 who lives in Kitwe, Zambia.

DG Nyirenda said the needs in his country of Zambia for a clinic to treat AIDS victims are overwhelming.

The next step? Health officials in Zambia will choose from an inventory supplied by MSNI Operations Director Larry Biron. MSNI workers will pack a "sea container" as soon as Rotarians in Zambia make their selection and the shipment will be on its way.

Cost: about $9,000 for shipping charges. That money will be solicited from Rotarians in 13 Districts across Zone 29. Value: the shipment's value - still undecided - could reach over $100,000, according to Biron.

Biron cautions that sometimes getting "things" through customs is the biggest hurdle in delivering medical supplies into Africa. DG Nyirenda says, "Yes we would benefit from the equipment, and yes we have in Zambia the muscle to get customs duty waived."

Thanks District 6110 Rotarians. District 6110 Executive will give you a final report when the sea container leaves the warehouse. 🌍 friends. It is heartwarming to see fellow Rotarians from around the district that one knows well. The "family" atmosphere that RI President Jonathan holds dear is immediately evident.

The stories from the golf outing Friday were quite interesting. It seems that scuba gear may have been appropriate. Yet all who went claimed to have a fantastic time.

R.I. Director John Germ stimulated a super-strong Conference beginning with a talk entitled "Rotary as I see it." The Chattanooga, Tennessee native's many years in Rotary allowed him a special perspective on District 6110. He and his wife, Judy, along with R.I. President's representative Dr. John Markley and his wife, Lois, were the King Pins of the Conference, a foundation from which each presenter built their specialty.

For the lunch meeting, John Markley, D.V.M. gave us a marvelously witty keynote address. Ed Clifford, PDG kept us up to date on the Razorback vs. Texas football game. There were many more folks in attendance than expected, so the wait to make a sandwich was longer than usual, but this gave us more time to enjoy each other's camaraderie. As a special treat, Clifford the BIG RED DOG, played by Glenn Fischer, AG from Oswego (also artist/designer of the four speakers gifts) made a surprise appearance. Clifford was advertising Marty Clark's book project for the Eureka Springs library.

Our exciting District Secretary, Pam Everett, was named "District 6110 Rotarian of the Year" by IPDG Ed Clifford. Pam gave a much needed and well attended workshop on Electronic Communications in the morning session.

Pam's husband, RYLA co-chairman Chuck Everett, gave an outstanding and rousing program. This will be an exciting year to be involved with RYLA, and we need to get Rotarians and kids involved with this program soon.

Ambassador/Kirchner scholars Maureen McClung, and Kelly Dengel put on an outstanding program. Much was learned about New Zealand, and China. I was particularly fascinated with the hiking/camping preparations the New Zealanders are involved in. They call it "tramping." In one picture, we see the kids dragging a keg on a two-wheeler on a hike into the wilderness!

Saturday's Banquet I would consider the best I've seen. Hats off to Matt Davis. His bother Frank Davis III, (aka Hollywood) President of Strategic Perceptions, Inc., gave a rousing performance. We learned a lot about the time he has spent with Dan Quayle, Elizabeth Dole and a big air conditioned rat. We were given an interesting view into the world of the "spin freaks."

The weekend ended with a memorial service for honoring Rotarians who have passed away this year. DG Tom Clark, said that this was an outstanding service to be remembered for a long time.

Mr. Rotary Comes to Tulsa

Plan for it. Protect it from potential conflicts. Prepare for it. When? Friday Noon, November 7, 2003 could be one of the major moments in your Rotary career. Please read on ... What? "Mr. Rotary" Cliff Dochterman, will be addressing District 6110 Rotarians on the Key Topics in Rotary Today.

Who? CLIFF DOCHTERMAN, a California native, Past Rotary International President, 1992-93, AUTHOR of "The ABC's of ROTARY" (recently revised), and Chairman of 2005's World Wide Rotary Centennial Projects.

Where? At the First United Methodist Church, 10th Street and Boulder in Tulsa, Oklahoma. You know, where the Rotary Club of Tulsa (known to all the insiders as "The Downtown Club!") regularly meets. (Actually the Downtown Club is switching their Wednesday meeting, November 5th to this date November 7th.

A special treat: this event may be the "inaugural" program for the Tulsa Club's new huge AV screens and sound system. Wherever you sit, you'll be able to hear and see the MAN, Cliff Dochterman.

Do not miss Rotary History being made ... in Tulsa ... for you and Rotarians like you. Registration materials will be out shortly.

P.S. Popular Chuck Wilson, Past President and Chairman of the Rotary Club of Tulsa's Centennial Project, will be Mr. Dochterman's host and our M.C. for this momentous event. More surprises on the way!!

P.P.S. The original author of DG Tom's "5 Way Test" is ... you guessed it ... Cliff Dochterman. 🌻
